Dump 4 You Doctor Meets Etiquette Guru Melanie Broyles on Toginet's How Not 2 Act
Recent Trends for Ending Relationships has Broyles Saying "Mind Your Manners"

St. Louis, MO, July 14, 2010-When it comes to ending relationships, Melenie Broyles, President of manners coaching company, Etiquette Saint Louis, questions using an outside resource like Bradley Laborman, Founder of IDump4 You.com, to deliver the bad news. Broyles, an etiquette guru and newly launched online talk radio host of How Not 2 Act, will interview Laborman on the recent popularity of his company's unique services. Acting as the messenger for ending marriage and dating relationships, IDump4You.com has garnered recent media attention from major network programming such as the Today Show and Dr. Phil. Broyles' discussion with Laborman regarding his practices will air on Monday, July 19th on Toginet.com at 12 p.m. EST.

Broyles, a mother of four children and previous corporate HR Professional, has spent the past 10 years coaching people on the do's and don'ts of social manners. "My business fulfills a need for training in the art of polite company, something that never goes out of style. Utilizing third party resources to deliver news of a personal nature, is a definite possible reflection of the decline in consideration of others that is becoming more commonplace in our societies. Whether it is a corporate dinner or the end of a relationship, etiquette is not about impressing people, it is about using kindness, courtesy and respect in every part of our daily lives," says Broyles.

Etiquette Saint Louis began as a single person company offering services in Broyles home state of Missouri, and has since been expanded by independent representatives within seven states. Broyles spends much of her time developing business in corporate offices, schools and at private educational conferences, where etiquette is taught for all social circumstances including dinners, parties, work related events, interviews and more.

Broyles new found niche as an online talk radio host for her show How Not 2 Act is quickly growing in popularity as it continues to catch the listening ear of media, mothers, teachers and corporate offices alike. More of Broyles' coaching technique, advice and methods can be found as the co-author of her newest book release The Little Pink Book of Etiquette- Special Edition offered at select Nordstrom Stores and at etiquettesaintlouis.com.
